Around the pits

By: Bob Roberts

G'Day one and all.

Well the Christmas break is behind us and hopefully you are all working furiously on your trusty charges for the first round in March.

Your new Committee has been busy coming to grips with improving our club for the near and distant future. The first meeting was an extremely positive affair with great gusto and willingness to improve our club progressively over the rest of the year. It undoubtedly will take some time as there is a lot to remedy. However to date in roads are starting to be established and recognised and for most it will initially be a daunting time of adjustment and information overload, but I am sure that it can be achieved as such information is screened to how it affects each one on the committee with an identified specific role and not be overwhelmed by the overall enormity of the whole process ahead of them collectively.

What we am saying is that time is required initially to sort things out, select a course of action and tackle the tasks in a priority order as determined by your committee. Hopefully keeping you informed of our progress being one of those tasks. This hopefully will induce the desire within you to assist whenever or whatever or wherever you can over the year because it will require the efforts of all members to achieve this. Yes, we need more members. This issue will also be addressed by your committee as time progresses.

Patience, perseverance and understanding will be the first order of things we would appreciate from you the members as things develop you will be advised accordingly.

There will be numerous requests for assistance coming from your committee to establish initially a resource base for the assistance in areas of administrative work ie typing/photocopying etc as we don't seem at this point in time to have some important facilities available for the committee to call on when and if needed. We will be in the future running ads in this rag to seek assistance to various task within the managing of our club that can be done by members. Again, hopefully these requirements, as they are identified, will be actioned/accepted by members within our club.

After the second meeting of your committee there will be areas of concern that will need to be addressed by the members of our club to progressively make it a viable, pleasant, functional working environment. More on that later. As they are identified they will be made available in AD form for members to deliberate on and hopefully seek filling the positions/areas of need within the club.

Initially there are some important administrative issues to be addressed, which is already in progress and proceeding well at this time. Hopefully some of that can be revelled at the first General Meeting at Morgan Park on the 13/14 March if we can get the information out to in sufficient time for your input prior to that meeting. If not then it will definitely be at the next General Meeting. We are working hard to achieve this as we speak.

Enough form us for now. Hope everyone is keyed up for our first race meeting as we are.

Watch your mirrors.

Regards,

Bob Roberts
